Schwab Elected Student Union President ; Linda Green Veep

Bowne's new Student Union Council.

By Ivan Vogel

In the recent school-wide student Union elections, Todd Schwab was elected President of the organization for '77-'78 semester. Todd succeeded in defeating Alan Sherman and Diana Molian for the top position.

On the winning team are also Linda Green [Vice-President], Brenda Lam [Treasurer], Clint Gardner [Secretary], and Jonathan Wigderson [City Council-Rep].

Candidates for Student Union Vice-President were Linda Green, Linda Tes Eyck and Marc Ioff. A victorious Linda Green observed that she would like to "put student wishes into action." The way Linda would like to get in touch with students is by having a suggestion box put in the main lobby open to all students. She also wants to organize more clubs and teams, and "stay in touch with student feelings and ideas. We are not an elite organization. We are here for the students."

Applying for secretarial position were Clint Gardner and Damaris Solis. Upon his victory, Clint remarked, "You don't need sexy legs to be a secretary."

Campaigning for the position of Treasurer were Brenda Lam and Phyllis Sah. A victorious Brend explained the importance Treasurer by saying, "Being Treasurer, I'll work to the best my ability to make sure the mon goes where the students want to."

Jonathan Wigderson won t position of City Counc Representative. He w unanimously as he was the s person running for this positio

Cheri Nurse won the position Soph-Frosh Senator.

Anna Eng, Janice Friebau [Elizabeth Marcuggiero, Lyn Golubow and Celeste Miceli we all victorious in their bids Junior Senator. Likewise La Fisher, James Mennie, Micha Widman, Richard Southern, a Lisa Weiner are now all under t title of "Senior Senator."

"My main goal is to inform t students, and to get them mo involved." Commenting on stude apathy, Todd said, "Once t students realize that the Stude Union is for them, there will l less of it." He then adde "Students are welcome any Sa to come to the Student Unio Office, and we will welcome the and their ideas."

Richard Southern observed th importance of his office by saying "We raise funds for the schoo and then distribute them to club appropriately."

Mr. Vincent Ruggiero, Coo dinator of Student Affairs, als expressed his opinion on incoming administration and the outgoing one. He said, "I think they did an outstanding job, more than mos people suspect. Budgetarily, they performed magnificently. Almost every team and club was restored, and new equipment was bought.

Unlike Federal officials, Bownites only have one year to perform their promises and obligations. Time will tell if they will keep their promises and create an acceptable atmosphere in Bowne.

Bowne's Outlook For Next Year

By Brian Watman

[illegible] September John Bowne will [illegible] entering its 14th year and [illegible] coming its 10,000th student. [illegible] though Bowne has changed [illegible] in the last 13 years, Bowne [illegible]'79 will not be very different [illegible] Bowne today. This isn't as [illegible] as it sounds because for the [illegible] several years, Bowne has had [illegible] shall climb in some ways [illegible] population, budget cuts, [illegible] or lay-offs, shorter days. [illegible] Therefore, in comparison, [illegible] year's outlook is a plus.

[illegible] recent interview with The [illegible]ver, Principal Bernard [illegible] spoke about next year at [illegible] Mr. Ludwig said, "We will [illegible] decrease in population as [illegible]ed to what our population [illegible] is during the fall." Usually [illegible] are a couple of hundred [illegible]ts who leave Bowne for [illegible] reasons by the spring term. [illegible]is enables the school to [illegible] an eleven period day. But [illegible] Bowne will have roughly [illegible] students (the current [illegible]ion), and when the spring [illegible]mes we will be our usual [illegible]ndred less.

[illegible] the leveling off? "Bowne [illegible]onger be part of the choice [illegible]ssions program" available [illegible]nts in certain minority [illegible]nabling them to choose [illegible]ssal schools in Queens. As [illegible]there have not been any [illegible] in the zoning or the [illegible] Assembly programs will [illegible]ntinue.

[illegible]nly increasing problem is [illegible] substitutes. The United [illegible]n of Teachers contract [illegible] "productivity clause" [illegible]g short term substitutes teachers will have to come cheap. As for expanding current programs, the Small Animal Care program will be changed to a Pre-Veterinarian program with a new biology lab.

A new trial program will be initiated next spring. Starting off with 35 students, a work-study situation will be initiated with LaGuardia Community College, giving technical assistance and forwarding credits from Bowne.

An update on the new diploma requirements: The Board of Education is still considering the raising to 43 credits, counting gym and making two years of language mandatory, with an extra term of Social Studies added, but this at soonest will affect the graduating class of 1981.

In Our Opinion

S.U. Elections Analyzed

The votes are in, and so are an entourage of eager and willing students who will comprise the Student Union council of 1977-78. Eager and willing they are, but experienced they are not -- the combined experience of every council member-elect totals only one and one-half years.

Todd Schwab, the president-elect, served only five months as an appointed junior senator during his years at Bowne and was a relatively insignificant voice during that span, yet he was chosen over two other candidates who have been each council members for almost three years apiece. Incoming vice-president Linda Green defeated her opposition without having a moment of council membership to her credit. Brenda Lam did the same as she won the treasurer's race. It is clear that the students of John Bowne have gambled their vote on people who really have little prior knowledge of the ins and outs of running a student service. By all logical standards, this factor should be a negative one.

"Eager And Willing They Are, But Experienced They Are Not"

However, as is the case in all elections, logic does not always hold water. Witness the executive board of the outgoing S.U. council. Nearly each member had served the council in another capacity prior to his/her affairs. But as any mathematician will aver, the whole is not always equal to the sum of its parts. Collectively, this group was not as potent as it could have been.

We feel that this "new blood" may be the transfusion this school needs to regain student interest and spirit. Indeed, there is much to regroup along those lines after the stagnate governing period now ending. But already positive signs are in flux. The fact that voting Bownites knew enough to elect this "new breed" is a sign that student interest in student affairs is climbing.

Student support may indeed be there, but there must be something strong to support. The incoming council must continue what good there is and institute original phases additionally. The following are a few suggestions:

Appeal to General Student Interest: Many students have expressed desires for such activities as mini-rock concerts, gambling nights, and the like. Keep in mind that the student body as a whole determines relative success. Get out to those students and examine and consider their ideas -- not only those of the ones who frequent room 150.

Ways To Improve

Memories

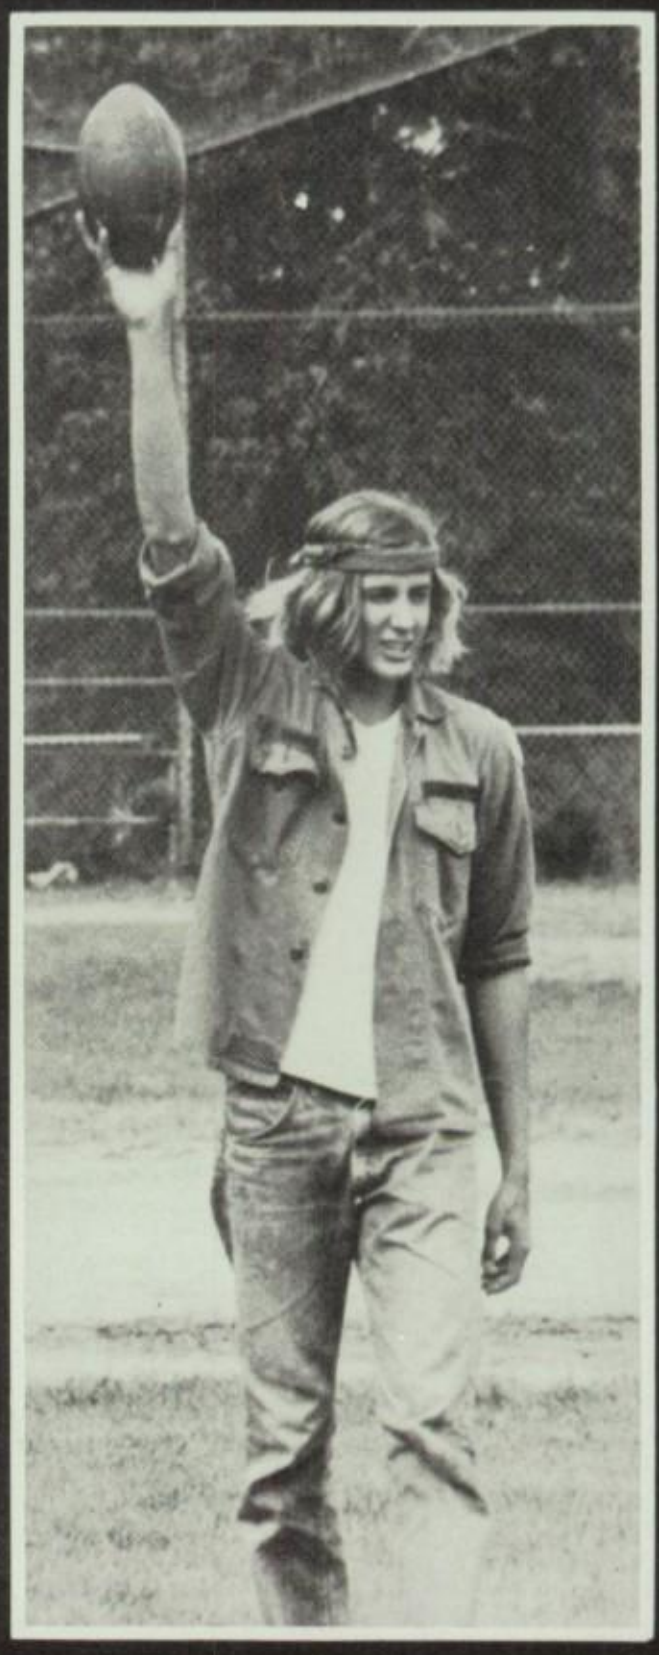
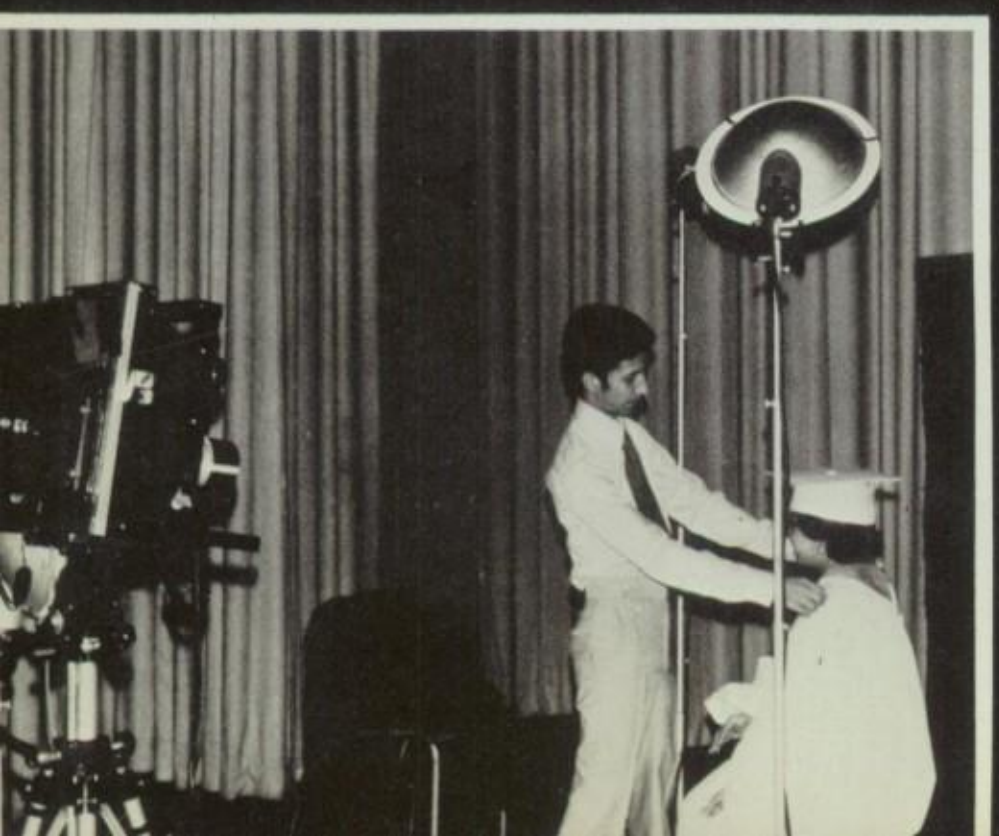
Memories,
Are our visions of the past
Thoughts we always will hold fast
Of the way it was



Remember kindergarten when all the world was a sandbox
and life was just a make-believe castle?
Remember 1st and 2nd grade when reading was a hassle?
Remember 3rd and 4th when life was just a game?
Remember all the fun, isn't growing up a shame?

We went from there to 5th and 6th with that very special girl,
And then our graduation when our heads began to whirl.
From there we went to 7th and a brand new school to face,
Fear turned to joy in 8th when we finally caught the pace.

Recall the friends we made in 9th when we felt so mature?
Remember graduation when we cried outside the door?
We took the leap to 10th grade and getting up so late,
Then on into 11th, one more year we couldn't wait.



Now that 12th has come and gone
It hurts me just to say
To have those days back again
For that I'd surely pay.
Now when we think those days are gone
Our sweet memories will last
But it's so very sad to think
Those days went by so fast.

Dear Graduate:

The past three or four years have been difficult ones for the schools of New York City. They have brought budget cuts, teacher layoffs, reduction in curriculum offerings and a general diminution of school life. This is a very sad fact of life.

However, with your help and enthusiasm, the staff at John Bowne High School has continued to provide for excellence of education and the maintaining of a viable and exciting school. We sincerely hope that in the future you will remember you years at Bowne with fondness and nostalgia. You have developed into young adults in a large urban school with people of varied cultural backgrounds. You have been influenced by an outstanding professional staff and by many people who care about you. We hope that the requirements and skill for a full life have been developed during your years at John Bowne High School.

We wish you a good life filled with joy, happiness and education. "If a man empties his purse into his head, no man can take it away from him. An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest." We will miss you.

Today's space age technology has evolved from the alphabet era into a world of wizardry intended to free man from handwork and allow him to pursue headwork, the process of applying knowledge to solve practical problems involving human and material resources.

Future technological progress is not inevitable. It will depend upon man-made decisions which will be the result of present day technology.

Predicting the future of technology in education is as speculative as predicting the future of technology in industry would have been 5,000 years ago. It is clear, however, that preparation for the future is proper use of today.

Physical Science

Time is an ever-present thing in the Physical Sciences. It may seem surprising but almost every week there are discoveries which in some measure overthrow the accepted ideas. Some flavor of these changes is introduces in our department. We certainly can not use the chemistry, physics or earth science of a half century ago. In chemistry and physics the newer ideas of the atom are constantly being replaced. The idea of Neils Bohr at the beginning of the 20th century is far behind the times; not abandoned because it is old, but because it is disproved. Ideas in radioactive dating have shown us that we have had errors even in the radioactive dating, but we are sure that the ideas of 50 years ago in regard to the last Age of Glaciation is more likely to be 12,000 years ago that the 18,000 years ago given until a few years ago. An idea in science is not abandoned because it is old but only because it's disproven. Our work is largely based on experiments conducted in the classroom and laboratory.

The time has come to face a world of strangers and we don't know how, we're not that proud.

Leaving Bowne is something that is towards us and our future stands, within our hands.

In the end when we leave
our high school and we walk
away from its halls

We will look back and
write all the memories
down,

All the good times
we've had at Bowne

We're Seniors now and Bowne's what we'll
remember, within our
hearts, our lives will start

Although we're grown we'll never forget about the things we've learned, it's
what we earned

In the end when we leave
our High School and we
walk away from its halls

We will look back
and write all the
memories down,

All the good times
we've had at Bowne.

Now we're leaving
Bowne and we leave
with pleasant memories
of good times past,

Good times
that last.

We've had good years at Bowne and we'll go on
with the knowledge that
we're not alone,

We've found
a home

In the end when
we leave our

We will look back
